White walls, and I'm watching them now
Too tall, wish you would take them down
The ceiling's closing in on my now
I'm trapped in all these memories, I drown

Will you reach me? I'm still breathing
But I'm pulled down by the tides of the shadows I've loved
And I'm swept out of the shallows and people I love

Red skies that I'm looking to paint
Your eyes that I miss everyday Ripped jeans let me know I'm the same
Messed up with a heart drenched in shame

Will you reach me? I'm still breathing
But I'm pulled down by the tides of the shadows I've loved
And I'm swept out of the shallows and people I've loved

And I know they're waiting for me
Those sails of hope out on the sea
West winds of darkened memories
Just asking for your sympathy

Will you reach me? I'm still breathing
But I'm pulled down by the tides of the shadows I've loved
And I'm swept out of the shallows and people I've loved
I'm pulled down by the tides of the shadows I've loved
