The dark's chasing you, cause you to think life's untrue, light never reached this far, becoming who you are.

Painting maps on your wrists,
the unforgettable exists, all this time waiting for change, the rain's still pouring all the same.

Again you shake,
again you break,
your life feels like misery,
and bleeding a luxury.

You are so filled of fear, every person, every eye stare, but they'll never see through,
the walls built around you.

So tired and so weak,
whisper, scream and speak, words is just a symbol of,
the dream of a life above.

Again you shake,
again you break,
your life feels like misery,
and bleeding a luxury.

You're not gonna make it this way, you can't leave, can't run away, a life in pieces waiting clear, a burden you can't bear.

Again you shake,
again you break,
your life feels like misery,
and bleeding a luxury.
