Away from here

No matter how well you play your hand
You can not go home again
No matter how well you lay your plans
You can not go home again

We go walking, down the pier
I read nothing in the lines of your face
You are falling
Far away from here
Give me something in your place

No matter how well you scrawl your face
You can not go home again
No matter how far your challenge is
You can not go home again

We go walking, down the pier
I read nothing in the lines of your face
You are falling
Far away from here
Give me something in your place

We go walking, down the pier
I see nothing in the lines of your face
You are falling
Far away from here
Give me something in your place

We go walking, through the fire
We go walking, through the fire
Far away from here
Give me something in your place
