In the season of night let it come
That the raven may guard And the wand and the sword protect

In the season of night let it
come

...and when pursued by snow, rain, wind and darkness let it come that I see with the celestial eyes of bright wisdom...

In the season of night let it
come

that my path be lit by the lantern of consecration and the fire of purification and the star of initiation
come
