You don't need anything
Cos you got everything
That you need or could want
You just want to let it all out
Go ahead scream and shout
That inch of doubt
You know what, leave it out
And hey, thinking how did you get here
Wondering where you're gonna be
When it's this time next year
Sometimes your mind floats out to sea
How you can change things that are meant to be
All try'n'a figure out, what were meant to do
With our lives, the thoughts are running though
Our minds, and at times
They get mixed and then twisted up like vines
You're in scenarios
That you've been in before
Try'n'a to stop before you even go
By I think I mean I'm not really sure

When your eyes close
That's when you see
There's always right
Where there's wrong
And that I guarantee
There's things we can't do
Things we haven't learnt to do
We're only human
So are you

You say stop, your starting again
Something seems different but you still feel the same
Everything's going right so it seems
Cos your reality turned into a dream
It's better to play it simple
Than to complicate it

And did you know that the worlds full
Of things that could help just get on with it
You say that you could never be
As great as want you to achieve

But have you ever had a look over that great wall
But are you scared, your unprepared at the chance that you might fall
But you would never look down
You could never look round
If you tried to start again
It wouldn't be the same
But you know, you go slow
And oh no, you must go
You must go

When your eyes close
That's when you see
Where there's wrong
And that I guarantee
Things we haven't learnt to do
We're only human
So are you

You need to stop looking back
And start looking forward, like you used to
Cos now you see, you don't need anything
Cos it's always been with you (x2)

When your eyes close
That's when you see
There's always right
Where there's wrong
And that I guarantee
Things we haven't learnt to do
We're only human
So are you (x2)
