This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here
This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here

'What's your name?'
You said as the music screams loud
I said 'James' but you didn't hear
So you said 'what?'

I couldn't even think
I was all like who am I and what's my name
I struggled for composure
Then I yelled my name again

What are the chances that I'd find this here?
Under the blaze of lights
While we're slipping in beer
The hardest part is over
We've finally found each other
We could have spent a lifetime
But we're here tonight

This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here
This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here

Making small talk
But how could I pay attention
When every flash of your eyes
Was like a new invention

And you asked me to dance
But we were already on the dance floor
And you laughed at yourself
And it was love

What are the chances that I'd find this here?
Under the blaze of lights
While we're slipping in beer
The hardest part is over

We've finally found each other
We could have spent a lifetime

But we're here tonight

This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here
This is life here tonight
And it's amazing that I found you here

Making small talk
But how could I pay attention
When every flash of your eyes
Was like a new invention

And you asked me to dance
But we were already on the dance floor

We gon' have a good time
Dancing in the moonlight

What are the chances that I'd find this here?
We could have spent a lifetime

Making small talk
Was like a new invention

And you asked me to dance
But we were already on the dance floor
And it was love

This is life here tonight
