Another call from the teacher
Last week it was the preacher
She's day dreaming again
We gotta put this to an end
Energy and emotion
Full of passion and devotion
But if you want her to fit in Better give her that Ritalin

And her mama says, "what I've learned is"

You can't harness the wind
Her wings you cannot pin
You can listen and guide her
But don't ever try to break her
She's gonna be something great
"Cause God never takes a break

A dreamer and creator
A builder and a painter
Just let her life unfold
It's her story to be told
Wakes up in the morning
Mind's already turning
She always goes against the grain
She never wants to be the same

And my mama says, "what I've learned is"

You can't harness the wind
Her wings you cannot pin
You can listen and guide her
But don't ever try to break her
She's gonna be something great

She should never feel lost, just because she thinks outside the box
She should never feel ashamed, just because she sees things a different way

You can't harness the wind
Her wings you cannot pin

You can listen and guide her
But donâ€™t ever try to break her Sheâ€™s gonna be something great â€˜Cause God never takes a break
