Jenna Jentry
"Run Just A Little Late"

Visit "Run Just A Little Late" on MotoLyrics.com

Patience is a virtue I never had
But I waited for ya till the sunny season came
And when your truck pulled up the drive way
Youâ€™re familiar kiss brought me back to life

And here we are standing in the front porch light
Time has left us in the dust so let the chase begin tonight

So we opened up a bottle of that red grape wine
And you told me stories of the other side
We tried to lose ourselves in the fields of gold
Went skinny-dipping down by the fishing hole
We watched the sunset from the back of your truck
You picked me clovers with a kiss for good luck
I know weâ€™re not promised another day
So Lord, let the sunrise run just a little late
Run just a little late

Woke up feeling numb around 10 AM
Curled up in a cold, cold sweat again
Same bad dream came back around
But I turned over and you were safe and sound

And here we are standing in the mid-day light
Time has left us in the dust so lets do it again tonight

So we opened up a bottle of that red grape wine
And yoou told me stories of the other side
We tried to lose ourselves in the fields of gold
Went skinny-dipping down by the fishing hole
Watched the sunset from the back of your truck
You picked me clovers with a kiss for good luck
I know weâ€™re not promised another day
So Lord, let the sunrise run just a little late
Run just a little late

Much of our young love taken, but I know you had to fight
Let's go back to where we started it tonight

So we opened up a bottle of that red grape wine

And you told me stories of the other side
We tried to lose ourselves in the fields of gold
Went skinny-dipping down by the fishing hole
Watched the sunset from the back of your truck
You picked me clovers with a kiss for good luck
I know weâ€™re not promised another day
So Lord, let the sunrise run just a little late
Run just a little late
Run just a little late
Run just a little late