

Jenna Jentry "White Lies"

Visit "White Lies" on MotoLyrics.com

Your scent fades away from my little white dress
And as you walk away, I'm holding my breath
Sitting by the window, right next to the flame
This could be forever, or this could lead to pain

If I couldn't have you, I'd rather be alone
And I knew from the second our lips touched that you
were the one
This feeling's getting hotter than a desert sunrise
I wish you'd tell me something even if it's white lies

It happened in a minute, with a smile it was here
You're my only safety, but you're my only fear
We could be forever or we could slip away
Every since I met you, I've wanted you to say

If I couldn't have you, I'd rather be alone
And I knew from the second our lips touched that you
were the one
This feeling is getting hotter than a desert sunrise
I wish you'd tell me something even if its white lies

Can't wait another day
I just wanna hear you say

If I couldn't have you, I'd rather be alone
And I knew from the second our lips touched that you
were the one
This feeling's getting hotter than a desert sunrise
I wish you'd tell me something even if its white lies

If I couldn't have you, I'd rather be alone
And I knew from the second our lips touched that you
were the one
This feeling is getting higher than a desert sunrise
I wish you'd tell me something even if its white lies

Visit Jenna Jentry page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

