All this darkness won't turn light
And all these wrongs won't make it right
I watch the sun fade into night again
Every day just feels the same
And all these drugs won't numb the pain
I look outside here comes the rain again

It's falling
It's falling again

I see the sadness in your eyes
There's a darkness deep inside
But you act like everything is fine again
See everyone's afraid of time
We all do things and don't know why
Go far and wide to forget what we can

But we're falling
We're falling again

All our lives are wasted on the things we think we should be
Tell me why they've painted over everything we should see

And we're falling
Were falling
Were falling
I'm falling again
And Im fallin
Im falling Again
