This room is filled with darkness and no one wants to say.

Back to where we started, do you believe in fate?

What do I do without you, without you?

What do I do without you, without you?

A broken promise,

Is all that's left worth saving.

Lets just be honest,

Is this a chance worth taking?

We'll never know.

We'll never know, never know, never know.

We'll never know.

Your eyes, they tell me something that you could never fake.

What are we mixed up in, it's too little too late?

What do I do, stay here

Without you, with dried tears

Or let you go and say I'm sorry?

What do I do, be sincere,

Without you, or face fear

'cause no one knows.

A broken promise

Is all that's left worth saving.

Lets just be honest,

Is this a chance worth taking?

We'll never know, never know, never know.

We'll never know, never know, never know.

Will never know.
