Sooner than memories begin to fray
Everything from the past just swept away
Remembering when all who have gone are now lost

Many paths, many seasons I have seen
Time has washed them away just like the sea
So many fates and dreams will become tragedies

To see you safe
To watch you grow
Visions of love, my only hope
Such loneliness is worth the price
I'll protect you with my life

Constantly guiding despite the cost
Hoping against fear when all is lost
Pity not my destiny, no
My sacrifice is worth this

To see you safe
To watch you grow
Visions of love, my only hope
This loneliness is worth the price
I'll protect you with my life

This burden I must bear alone
For many lives and more to come
My loneliness is worth the price
I'll protect you with my life

I'll protect you with my life
