

Oingo Boingo "Long Breakdown"

Visit "Long Breakdown" on MotoLyrics.com

Everywhere, everywhere, there is something to believe in Everyone and his brother, has a message for me somewhere

I believe and I believe in the cry of little children There's a thorn in my side that makes me want to free them
There's a cry, there's a cry, cry off in the distance

Of a long, long, long, long breakdown
Of a long, long, long, long, long, long breakdown

There's a light in the tower, there to guide us through the long night
Through the long night when we're dreaming under blankets of deception

In the darkness, undercover we may bump into each other
In the darkness, undercover, looking for a new direction
We may wander, we may wander in geometric patterns

In a long, long, long, long, breakdown
In a long, long, long, long, long, long breakdown

Underwater, underwater, I will meet you underwater
I will find you, I will find you, in the deep and quiet water
In the ocean, in the ocean, we will bask in all its glory
In the peaceful quiet water, I will tell you all a story

Of a long, long, long, long breakdown
Of a long, long, long, long, long, long breakdown
Of a long, long, long, long breakdown
It's a long, long, long, long, long, long breakdown

Visit Oingo Boingo page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

