Raised by pedestrian wolves, out in the forest
Raised by pedestrian wolves, out in the forest
I was left to fend for myself

I was left in a basket, just like baby Moses
To float down that muddy river
Protected by the stupid little fairies

I floated for nine days and nights
I floated for nine days and nights
Till I came to the city

Bright lights and all the fine ladies
Come on out all you bright fine ladies
I like you, just like you are and I love you

Kind of just like you are, and I love you
Like a sticky piece of cotton candy
In this bright red cotton candy, candy world

I'm so excited about the prospects of
Meeting with a stranger in an alley
I'm so excited, I hope they're rough
I hope their skin is tough like Spanish leather

Can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
I can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
Raised by pedestrian wolves, out in the forest
Raised by suburban lions, out in the jungle

We really like to run in packs and I like that
When we hunt, we all function with one mind
Our collective predinations are as sharp as the

Razor in my pocket, and as dull as the ice Melting slowly in my glass, my only love is the love of oblivion
In a dark room with as couple of pedestrian wolves

So artfully back lit by a solitary candle
I take my pleasure in soft red clouds of desire
So funky in this unwashed bed for one

With the soft red dreams of oblivion

I'm so excited about the prospects of
Meeting with a stranger in an alley
I'm so excited, I hope they're rough
I hope their skin is tough like Spanish leather

Can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
I can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
Raised by pedestrian wolves, out in the forest
Raised by suburban lions, out in the jungle

I'm so excited 'cause soon I'll hit the streets
I am the crown prince of pavement, I'm so excited Under the sheltering skin, stretched out so pale and thin

There is an ocean of bright red liquid love
And that, my friend, is my favorite color
Raised by pedestrian wolves out in the forest

And I take my pleasure on a soft red cloud
And I take my pleasure in the monkey's bed
And the wolves still howl and the light still glowing red

And I take my pleasure in a blue steel cage
And I take my pleasure through the monkey's eye
And the wolves all howl while the world around me dies

I'm so excited about the prospects of
Meeting with a stranger in an alley
I'm so excited, I hope they're rough
I hope their skin is tough like Spanish leather

Can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
I can't wait until their dull, dead eyes meet mine
Raised by pedestrian wolves, out in the forest
Raised by suburban lions, out in the jungle

I'm so excited about the prospects of
Meeting with a stranger in an alley
I'm so excited, I hope they're rough
I hope their skin is tough like Spanish leather

Raised by pedestrian wolves out in the forest
Raised by pedestrian wolves out in the forest

I was left in a basket just like baby Moses
To float down that muddy river
Protected by all those stupid little fairies

I floated for nine days and nights 'til I came to the city

I like you just like you are, and I love you
Kind of just like you are in this bright red cotton candy,
