"All Because Of You"

Look at me feeling good
Who'd have thought I ever would
See my dreams come to light
See the dark turning bright

For the first time I feel more than good
All because of you

I have been a journeyman
Travel far across this land
Looking for a place to rest
Tread within a resistance

Now, I've got something to hold on to
All because of you

Wind may howl, rain may come
From this path I shall not come
I've come to know a better way
There's no return to yesterday

Now, I've got something to hold on to
All because of you

Ooh, ooh
