I'm sorry
I don't know how to express except in lyrics

Don't flatter yourself because I wrote you this song I said, don't it. It isn't long

But this is all your fault, you know
I wasn't sorry when you went home
And if you think that this is mean well, then you shouldn't have told your friends cause now I'm stuck in this with you who even knows if sorry's the truth who even knows what happened

I'm sorry
you know who to express your feelings cause you have none

I'm really sorry you didn't know that words don't always have meanings
Just remember you were sober and I wasn't

But this is all your fault, you know
I wasn't sorry when you went home
And if you think that this is mean
cause now I'm stuck in this with you
who even knows if sorry's the truth
who even knows how this happened

It sucks to know that this all turned cruel I remember December like it was new Yesterday you didn't see things so blue So, basically I'm trying to say: Fuck You

But this is all your fault, you know
I wasn't worry when you went home
And if you think that this is mean

Then, I'm not sorry that you're upset Because this happened way too real Did you even consider how I feel?
I guess this was supposed to happen
