The time passed before my eyes
When will this feeling end
When will I realize
I see a blur of where I have been

Just take me home
Every day just looks the same I'm sick of waiting around
I'd swear you're near but you aren't here
This happens from town to town
You think you know how it feels? Think again
I'm far from home

I don't know where you are, but I can feel it
I don't know where to start, just let me see it Tell me that you miss me too, I promise I will be there
soon

I see a picture with your face its only missing a sound It's like I'm starting a race but there's no win to be found

I don't know where you are, but I can feel it
I don't know where to start, just let me see it
soon
