[Kat Dahlia]

I'm not gonna cry

No, not this time

These eyes won't stop my tears

They fight to stay inside,

If I could just keep dancing

Drown out in this silence

And I can't hear my mind when thoughts start magnifying

But I can't stop fighting

My hand, it gets so violent

Taped up bruised and black like I did from your hands

Oh baby, oh baby, I'm crazy

I used to see right through you

I'm sipping, I'm drinking

I'm driving, it's crazy

Why can't my mind just lose you?

And no one knows what we've been through

I taught you everything I knew

I gave you everything I could to show that you was never good

A stranger don't romance me

Cheaper words don't sound fancy

I'm too difficult to decipher for you to ever break me

[Chorus]

And you don't know me like he did

I'm sorry stranger, you should quit

I just ain't ready for this shit

I'm sorry stranger

I'm sorry stranger, you should quit

Oh baby, yeah baby
Listen up, if love was a war,
I'd strap up my artillery
'cause it's your heart that I'm fighting for Just to explore something special, watch you leave your door
Because I wasn't sure what the future for us two had in store
So I step back, told myself to forget that feeling that I had when I met you
So my heart wouldn't set back
Now I'm stressed at a point that I feel has no return Delete your number from cell while I watch yo picture burn
And these thoughts just disappear
Cause me losing you girl is my biggest fear
I got big wounds, big cuts,
And a heart that'll never be stitched up
'Cause a now a nigga broken
And my spirits aren't gone lift up,
This permanent pain, emotion burning in flames
Along with that picture and the text,
I'm making sure that nothing remains
And from here on out we're fight or die girl
I will never be the same,
Nah, I'll never be the same
Girl you know love is pain

[Chorus]
