The air stands still as they walk in
Pounding hearts, flashing eyelids
Focused on her touch, before he noticed
Bedroom doors don't lock on their own

Up against the walls, where she'll take him
But it'll take some time for them to break in
A fathers advice that can't reach him
Heavy breathing, she can't stop screaming

And she won't try to stop it
Cos she knows you won't
So stay calm, she'll tear off your clothes
You'll tear out your eyes, but swallow your pride
Cos tonight you're not leaving

Just so young, and naive
In her arms, under sheets
And she says it just won't be complicated
Forget both of your names

Cos it's just so infectious
And you can't let it go
She is just the perfect girl
Wouldn't your mother be proud

And she won't try to stop it
Cos she knows you won't
So stay calm, she'll tear off your clothes
You'll tear out your eyes, but swallow your pride
Cos tonight you're not leaving

It ends tonight
It ends tonight
It ends tonight
It ends tonight
It ends tonight
