

Kelly Lynn Gitter "Break The Chain"

Visit "Break The Chain" on MotoLyrics.com

Break the Chain

The silence of your voice is deafening
I can't bear to see the way you look at me
If 1984 was the beginning
Then '94 is truly the end

How could ten years of happiness
Live with ten years of heartache
Through the memories of why we cared
Speaks the voice of reason in this game
Break the Chain

I see before me their smiles, so young and pure
In their eyes, the sum of me and you
They'll change forever, of that I'm sure
The way it is, there's nothing we can do

How could ten years of happiness
Live with ten years of heartache
Through the memories of why we cared
Speaks the voice of reason in this game
Break the Chain

I cry at night, wondering why I had to change
But only time the healer's on my side
If all we have are memories, then let them stay
It will give us both the strength to say goodbye

How could ten years of happiness
Live with ten years of heartache
Through the memories of why we cared
Speaks the voice of reason in this game
Break the Chain

Through the memories of why we cared
Speaks the voice of reason in this game
Break the Chain!
Break the chain!
Break the chain! Break the Chain

