As far as I can tell when to buy and when to sell
Is it lines across a chart?
Or the software in your heart
And I wish someone would call
As the numbers start to fall
On a television show tells me what I need to know

All news all night in a changing economy
All news all night it is what they keep telling me

If my names not on your list
Does it mean I don't exist?
Cause I'm learning everyday hear that anchor woman say
All news all night in a changing economy
All news all night it is what they keep telling me

Interlude
Every market has to close is what everybody knows
And the world spins all night long
When I leave this channel on
All news all night in a changing economy
All news all night it is what they keep telling me
All news all night
All news all night
All news all night it is what they keep telling me
