Who made you god? you tell me now what gives a woman the right the right to take an unborns life but who the fuck are you to decide or to tell her what is right this shit rolls out of your mouth again i don't even see you try to understand or try to help her who made you god to decide what is right for her i don't see you trying to change who decides what's right for this young scared girls life? it should be her decision maybe in this case there's no wrong or right but it shouldn't be a fight so you bomb another clinic who made you god? what gives you the right to take another's life at your own discretion it's time to make that change
