There it goes again

Visions of your face keep flashing through my head

And when I close my eyes I start to reminiscence

Sweetness from your kiss

Poison on my lips

The thought of you is a threat to my sanity

But you're the cure to put my mind at ease

It even doesn't even matter you don't care

To wake me up from this nightmare

Baby I can't sleep without you

Even when I'm awake I dream about you

Your love is my insomnia

It keeps me up

Your love is my disease

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia

Echoes of your voice

Telling me you love me

It becomes the noise

That keeps me up and haunts me

Why do you still taunt me?

Drumming through my head

While your strumming on my heart strings

The thought of you is a threat to my sanity

But you're the cure to put my mind at ease

It even doesn't even matter you don't care

To wake me up from this nightmare

Baby I can't sleep without you

Even when I'm awake I dream about you

Your love is my insomnia

It keeps me up

Your love is my disease

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia

Baby I can't fall asleep without you

Because every time I try

The seconds turn to minutes

The minutes turn to hours

The hours turn to days

Boy I'm restless here without you

Without you

Without you

Without you

Baby I can't sleep without you

Even when I'm awake I dream about you

Your love is my insomnia

It keeps me up

Your love is my disease

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia

Your love is my insomnia
