I bet you're wonderin' where I've been
What town I'm calling home from now
And just how long I'll be there
Before I turn around

Truth is I finally found the place
Where I can start to plant some roots
It's bout as close to bein' perfect
It's got everything but you

There's a pathway to the ocean
A salty breeze blowin'
And this old man down the street makes damn good
wine
It's got stars that shine like diamonds
On the black abyss behind them
And there's a sun out here that seems to always shine
And I've never seen water quite so blue
It's got everything but you

There's a taco stand right down the corner
That serves the best cold draft beers
Sometimes I order up a round
Pretend that you're right here

And a reggae band plays every friday
We drink and dance into the night
Most folks round here think I'm a local
And I say that's about right
That's about right

There's a pathway to the ocean
A salty breeze blowin'
And this old man down the street makes damn good
wine
It's got stars that shine like diamonds
On the black abyss behind them
And there's a sun out here that seems to always shine
And I ain't never seen water quite so blue
It's got everything but you

And that's everything to me

Youuu
The only thing I need
Yeahhh

There's a pathway to the ocean
A salty breeze blowin
And this old man down the street makes damn good
wine
And I've never seen water quite so blue
I ain't ever seen water quite so blue
It's got everything but you
Yeah

It's got everything but you
