I feel like I am my own worst enemy fighting myself till one of us is in a cemetery as I stare at the man in the mirror all I see is pain in the eyes of this pillar if a saint has a past theres a future for a sinner they tried to label me a loser Im a prize winner when I was a youngin I sold drugs me and bullet were running round with road thugs the types who got rich doing robberies securicor vans, banks or running up in properties but mike and me made some alterations divorcing crime brings altercations everyday is like a battle Im prepared for therefore pray for the loved ones I care for no role models while we were growing up streets swallowed us now it feels like its throwing up

Im just trying to share some thoughts with you Im sharing some thoughts with you mum's like son pls be careful Ive seen death too many times to be fearful grans like love yourself or nobody will love you ask the Lord God Almighty thats above to change your mindset, live righteous dont want you sharing cells with lifers I believe life is a temporary assignment so Im working on staying in alignment brothers out after years of confinement 10 year stretch left him wondering where time now he seems stuck in an illusion living in the past he cant see he's losing he cant see himself how I see him told him make use of time now you got freedom Im just looking out for my brother bound by blood we dont share the same mother its love

Im just trying to share some thoughts with you Im sharing some thoughts with you the purpose of my life is too sacred for me give any life to this hatred I like to see people doing well though some wish to see me going through hell good heart with bad intentions Im first to point my mad imperfections its like I dont learn from my mistakes I need to stop making them for flip sake
