Tell me what hurts the most
When you feel it in your bones
Is this how you pictured yourself?
Do you feel like a ghost
Half alive and so alone?
Is this how you run from yourself?

And the undertow rushes in Pulls you out, pulls you in Spinning you all around
Spinning you upside down
You don't know which way is up
And will this ever be enough
To make you whole, to fill your soul
When all you want is

Something beautiful
That they can't take away
Said no one can ever touch
That nothing can rephrase
Something beautiful
That you can call your own
When the world shows its ugly side
All you want is something beautiful
Something beautiful

Can we touch the way you feel
Or does it only fade to gray
Is this how you cripple yourself?
When the sky is caving in Crashing down from within
Is this how you, you lose yourself?

You don't know which way is up
And will this ever be enough
To make you whole, to fill your soul
When all you want is

Something beautiful
That they can't take away
Said no one can ever touch

That nothing can rephrase
Something beautiful
That you can call your own
When the world shows its ugly side
All you want is something beautiful
Something beautiful

Some things will never, will never, will never change
Some things will never, will never, will never change
Will never change
Unless you believe in
Something beautiful
Something beautiful
When all you want is

Something beautiful
Something beautiful
Something beautiful
