I've Got A Right

Tell me what's on your mind
We're running out of time
I can tell from the look in your eyes
You're making decisions with me in mind
If I asked you this before
But it's hard to pin you down
With a chance to have everything mean nothing
You're really puttin' me in a bind

I've got a right to know the truth
Will you be loving me tomorrow?
Making plans for two
Will I be drowning in my sorrow
I really need to know
The truth about my chances
Of living with you
Or learning to live alone.

Ah yeah, oh oh yeah
It's hard for me to know
Babe, I can't read your mind
Just when I think I've opened the door
You close it just in time
You call me back and then
Say you love me once again
Till I feel like I'm on a roller coaster
And it's getting out of hand.

I've got a right to know the truth
Will you be loving me tomorrow?
Making plans for two
Will I be drowning in my sorrow
I really need to know
The truth about my chances
Of living with you
Or learning to live alone.
