It seems the season for love songs have left us behind
As the leaves all turn golden and drop from the sky
It's a cold night in Georgetown as rain starts to fall
And my whole world turned blurry

And I lost it all, I lost it all,
I lost it all, I lost it all

I choose to skip through September and maybe rewind
To a time when my love felt so pure and defined
When the colors were brighter and words in my hand
Came out full of hope and I'd just regret, yeah

I tell you a story from back a few years
We stayed together through hard times
No matter what changed
Oh, it was beautiful and simple, sweet in between
And I loved it for what it was, and that I believed

Cause it was love, so damn in love
We were in love, so damn in love

I took your pictures off the wall
I even made a god and prayed
That all the hurt I felt so long
Would go away for just one day
I know it's selfish and short side
Throw and naive
But I love this girl to death

She wants to forget it..

It seems the season for love songs have left us behind
As the leaves all turn golden and drop from the sky
It's a cold night in Georgetown as rain starts to fall
