We live in a palace that is under a curse
Will we find our way out?
The witches are watching beware of their eyes
They have a pact with the wolves

Into the woods
We must try to hide
Into the woods
We must try to hide from the damned

Oh their eyes are watching us
Now that we are not even safe in the woods

We drank from the well when we thought it was safe
Now our water is poisoned
Swallows have fled from the earth they are gone
We must sail away

Into the woods
We must try to hide
Into the woods
We must try to hide from the damned

Oh their eyes are watching us
Now that we are not even safe in the woods

My voice is gone
But they are calling for me
Right through the ashes of what used to be
My home is gone
But they are calling for me
Right through the ashes of what used to be me

My voice is gone
My voice is gone

Leave the land of the damned for the damned
Leave the land of the damned for the damned

My voice is gone
My voice is gone
