You're just another piece to my puzzle and I'm tryin' to put you in your place

There must be a simpler way to sum this up
Words don't make no difference
There must be something to do
You don't know what you mean
I hear you I hear you

The sky rips open and thunder keep on striking
When I'm angry, there must be something in the water
I know my eyes are black but, I'm same person I use to be all this pressure is turning me to a beast

Knowing that we don't have no time to waste
Time keeps telling me lies
Keep banging head on the wall
If that make you smile
I hear you I hear you

I see the horizon in front of me
Is that so simple to leave all be

I don't have anything to say, but this silence with you is priceless to me.

I just can't feel it
Somethings wrong, I know
I just can't be there
Somewhere far beyond

I see the horizon in front of me
Is that so simple to leave all be

I just can't feel it
Somethings wrong, I know
I just can't be there
Somewhere far beyond
