Why do I love him? He donâ€™t love back
When I call his name, he turns his back
The weather is growing cold
And I want him back again

I kinda know this other guy but heâ€™s rather
Old enough to be my father
So heâ€™s not the one for me
Cause I fancy younger men

Iâ€™m at a loss
Not a coincidence he left me because
My older man
Was ready to love me like the woman that I am
Oooh

So is it such a problem that heâ€™s old?
As long as he does whatever heâ€™s told
Iâ€™m glad that itâ€™s just my heart that he stole
And left my dignity alone

When in Rome we landed our first kiss
I slurred my words but he pretended not to notice
And then he sat down to play
My heart sang a symphony
So far, so swimmingly
And then I got up to find my fish in that sea
Weâ€™ve come so far
So who gives a damn about the ages we are
Oooh

So is it such a problem that heâ€™s old?
As long as he does whatever heâ€™s told
Iâ€™m glad that itâ€™s just my heart that he stole
And left my dignity alone

So is it such a problem that heâ€™s old?
As long as he does whatever heâ€™s told
I know Iâ€™m gonna survive the December cold

With somebody to retrieve my long lost soul
With somebody to retrieve my long lost soul.
