

Lianne La Havas

"The Awakening Of The Vampire Lord"

Visit "The Awakening Of The Vampire Lord" on MotoLyrics.com

And when the moon showed us the midnight hour, the bells rang their cries of death.
From the tower of the black tomb the sky got stained by this bats and lighting gave us a glimpse of the massive graveyard stones.

"It is time O'Lord of Wolves, prepare to rise up from Thy tomb and bless us with imperial blood".
We cried the words towards the clouds which stood still
and watched us deep below.

An unhearable tremor raised in the ground and introduced the coming.
Our Master of the Undead Legion had made his way through the holy earth he was buried in. Centuries ago
he got caught and paid for his bloodred lusts.
A priest of god had brought him down and put him in the earth to rest.
But the evil forces that bonded his flesh were stronger
then god's cage.
And with the blood of our sacrifice we released His Mighty Grace.

With a strike of thunder the earth burst open and
released the one kept silent.
A mighty figure of anger and hate floating on the air of death.
He stared at us, his followers, kneeled down on the grave.
"Servants of mine. I bless thee for my resurrection" he spoke before he flew away.

Visit Lianne La Havas page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.