As I hold your hand, I feel your body starting to cave in
By your side, I'm waiting for a whisper, a sign that you're still here
I'll fight for you, if you fight for me
We'll win this war someday

Breathe in, fight to make it through
I'll know you'll find the strength somewhere deep inside you
Breathe in and hold it for a while
I know it's hard to catch your breath
I know it's hard to smile, living life down here

Rest in peace, I collapsed
The moment that I heard the news that you had passed In my head, the memories seem so clear it's like you're still here
You fought for me, I'll fight for you
I'll win this war someday

Breathe in, fight to make it through
I'll know you'll find the strength somewhere deep
inside you
Breathe in and hold it for a while
I know it's hard to catch your breath
I know it's hard to smile, living life down here

(Living life down here)
I don't wanna say goodbye just yet
(Living life down here)
I don't wanna get your voice out of my head
(Living life down here)
I don't wanna let you go
(Living life down here)
Wish that you could hear, I love you

Breathe in, fight to make it through
I'll know you'll find the strength somewhere deep
inside you
Breathe in and hold it for a while
I know it's hard to catch your breath
I know it's hard to smile, living life down here
