Oh my God, We're at it again
You suck times 10
I'd rather bite down on tin foil
My God you make my blood boil

Tell me this, Tell me that
I've heard it before
Another excuse for me to ignore
I wanna know
Do you look in the mirror with fright?*

How the hell do you sleep at night???

Where do we go from here?
You're crippling up with fear
You've said everything you could
And now I think it's time you go

I've had it up to here
YOU're sickening my dear
I hate you more than I did yesterday
Sending seven letters your way

Oh my God, I called you a friend
My life in your hands
You voice rings inside like tinnitus
Someone smashed your mailbox, come find us!

Tell me this, Tell me that
Just a broken machine
the truth cuts deep, but oh so clean
How many times can you cross the painted line?
Pity on your heart, but not mine

Where do we go from here?
You're crippling up with fear
You've said everything you could
And now I think it's time you go

I've had it up to here
YOU're sickening my dear
I hate you more than I did yesterday
Sending seven letters your way

How many times can you tell me something
Tell me something, tell me something
How many times can you tell me something
Tell me something that leads to nothing?
How many times can you tell me something
Tell me something, tell me something
How many times can you tell me something
Tell me something that leads to nothing?

*The lyrics in the album booklet were as typed but I believe she says "I know it's scary when you look in the mirror with fright"
