I was walking down your street today
As the rain fell down on me
There's nothing left for me to say
But there's a part of you in me

You're standing inside my heart
I'm standing outside your door
Standing inside your heart
I know everything that you're looking for

I'm staring inside my love
I'm staring outside your door
Staring inside your love
I see all the things that I was before

It takes all I have for me to smile
Letting others think I'm fine
Won't you come and lay with me a while
Pretend that you're still mine

You're standing inside my heart
I'm standing outside your door
Standing inside my heart
I know everything that you're looking for

I'm staring inside my love
I'm staring outside your door
Staring inside your love
I see all the things that I was before

I fell apart, I need to feel you
I need to know, I need an answer
I've been waiting, you're so close
I'm reaching out for you
I'm reaching out for you

You're standing inside my heart
I'm standing outside your door
Standing inside my heart
I know everything that you're looking for

I'm staring inside my love

I'm staring outside your door
Staring inside your love
I see all the things that I was before

You're standing inside my heart
I'm standing outside your door
You're standing inside my heart
