My baby's gone but not forgotten shes
Chewed my heart in two bits of rotten
Fruit from the tree that was a part of me but I'd fall for it again if it gave me ten minutes with Those pretty eyes that watched my every move
The sweetest lips that could kiss my worries in two
But multiplying things isn't helping a quietly
Understanding requiet to be the better liar than you

I'm getting oh so good at falling out of love
Crawling back again
Falling out of love
Calling back again

Time is ticking, life is short these Notions plague my every thought but I ain't down with the talk of the town
Because there's things I need to see like
All the stuff I think is good for saving what we should have gave
Instead of giving it away

We try to behave but I'm falling out of love
Crawling back again
Falling out of love
Calling back again

Just to say we can't be playing games all day
Kickstart the chance of reromancing you

Falling out of love
Crawling back again
Falling out of love
Calling back again
Falling out of love
Falling out of love
Falling out of love
Falling out of love
