Verse 1:

its rather difficult explaining what I feel, looking up above and mirage the ideal, still i ponder at the clouds making shapes, sitting with my love reminiscing bumping beat tapes. It's not the same anymore as it was before, the world is big I've missed out I want to see some more. Yo I've got music, and I've got rhythm too i got words that I can play with and their fun if you can spit em too. I flow with class just the way I like to dance I want my rhythms to be felt through the melodies of jazz, I want my rhythms, to take you on a trip, balance good and evil equilibrium to find a grip. I feel nostalgic, so I have to rock shit, making sure you hear me every single time I drop shit, Appreciate it, one love to all the fam, Life is my biggest test I have to pass my exam

Hook:

I've never seen this world in many different colors, my vision's getting clear and i can understand others. The lust, the greed, the anger that we feed, I don't need it in my life all i need is air to breathe (x2)

Verse 2:

Visions of Ghandi, peace forever find me, in this earth i walk in so that i can find some guidance. Most of my life i do admit that I've been lost. But i'mma find the right path no matter what it costs. I looked up to the cross once, it didn't help much that's when i turned to music and i felt her gentle touch, warm and caressing, almost like a blessing, I've never turned away and now you'll never find me stressing , this world is hard to understand within your lifespan, i wish it was as simple as just setting up a mic stand, but it ain't like that, some times you get beat down you gotta stand and gotta fight back and get right back up on your feet complete, you can't defeat the one of many peace keepers in the streets I preach on the beats, I breathe, and always practice what i preach, i dont make a promise if it's way beyond my reach

Hook:

I've never seen this world in many different colors, my vision's getting clear and i can understand others. The lust, the greed, the anger that we feed, I don't need it in my life all i need is air to breathe (x2)

Verse 3:

I made a journey here labeled as an immigrant, promised to myself I'd never remain full of ignorance. Some of my friends weren't even friends i had to find out, through means of my own methods man i swear it fucked my mind out, but yo whatever, enjoy the cali weather, i know sooner or later everything will come together. I found my peace of mind deep inside the art of rhyme and after that i knew that everything would be just fine. I live the life of a poet and a peasant, stop living in the past man start living in the present. My dad works two jobs here two jobs here are fucking him, trying to make some money for the fam he be hustling. But he's sustaining, you bet your life he's straining, so yeah i get pissed off when you suckers start complaining, that life is tough pointing fingers you start blaming people for your actions man to me that shit is degrading.

Hook:

I've never seen this world in many different colors, my vision's getting clear and i can understand others. The lust, the greed, the anger that we feed, I don't need it in my life all i need is air to breathe (x2)
