

Lizard In Paris "Storm"

your words divide
my inner sides
the ones that form
this black and white

my worlds collide
the devil inside
falls like a storm
straight from the sky

can you feel me now
can you hear the sound
that echos all around. . .
can you drift away
like a memory
and take with you all that I've seen

I break the chains
and I shake the gates
beware

'couse I'm drownin' in this firefall Listenin' to my freedom call shadows are bright

when angels hide
but there is light
within my mind

so my worlds collide
the devil inside
falls like a storm
