I try to swim across the other side I turn my back on truth I run away and hide all those dark thoughts in the corners of my mind has forsaken me in chains and turned my love blind

Let me lie in holy water Let me lie in god arms Holy lord, why can't you take my sins away?

Times are getting hard when love is just a thought Compassion is a memory and greed is all I got My bones are getting weary I feel I'm running out of time oh please lord wont you give me a sign

Let me lie in holy water Let me lie in god arms Holy lord, why can't you take my sins away?

I feel the cold wind blowing at my back.
I can't recall the nights being so black. I'm getting kind of weary with the devil on my tail. Because my heart is black my soul is shot to hell.

Let me lie in holy water. Let me lie in god arms. Holy lord, why can't you take my sins away?
