

The Lonesome Line "The Great Divine"

Visit "The Great Divine" on MotoLyrics.com

Listening to the sounds around my all of my life to the words of wisdom that are shrouded in doubt

To be a better man one must walk a straight line and follow the words that are long written down

To be accepted in society and the great divine you do as you are told and you don't ask why Load your guns and lock your door God in t here anymore.

Politics, religion, corporations and such they are feeding you lies they can never get enough

To all those hypocrites who think they know more then you know
let them do as they will let them reap what they sow

Love thy father and love thy neighbour to lay in god's hands you kill all the infidels (now that's contradiction right there)

Load your guns and lock your door God in t here
anymore.

Visit The Lonesome Line page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.