

Lucy Spraggan

"Someone"

Visit "Someone" on MotoLyrics.com

You may never be a scientist
You may never fire a gun
You may never step foot on the moon but you're already someone

You may never find the missing link
You may not ever paint a work of art
But you will find fate where they say it is It's already in your heart

When the bombs go off I won't take cover
Keep one foot in front of the other
Home is where I lay my head
so under the stars ill make my bed
When the bombs go off I won't take cover
Keep one foot in front of the other
Home is where I lay my head
so under the stars I lay my head

You may never be a millionaire
You might not have all you wish for
But when you have what you wanted
Just know you had it all before

When the time comes you will know
You will feel it in your heart
And the only time you will find real light
Is when you're searching in the dark, cause

When the bombs go off I won't take cover
Keep one foot in front of the other
Home is where I lay my head
so under the stars ill make my bed
When the bombs go off I won't take cover
Keep one foot in front of the other
Home is where I lay my head

so under the stars I lay my head

You may not have another chance

The stars are in your reach

You have the power in your hands

It's time now to believe

You will always have the secret

You will always have the air to breathe

Every day say to yourself

This future is for me

When the bombs go off I won't take cover

Keep one foot in front of the other

Home is where I lay my head

so under the stars ill make my bed

When the bombs go off I won't take cover

Keep one foot in front of the other

Home is where I lay my head

so under the stars I lay my head

When the bombs go off I won't take cover

Keep one foot in front of the other

Home is where I lay my head

so under the stars ill make my bed

Visit Lucy Spraggan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.