Sometimes the inspiration never comes.
When all you want is someone to realize your depression.
When all you want is someone to say that they care.
The sun can be shining but you don't see it.
And the love can be there but don't feel it.
Sometimes the inspiration never comes
And the ransom for your joy is just too much.
And to show your face means they might judge.
They always judge.
When all you want is the will to get out of bed.
When all you want is some understanding.
Sometimes the inspiration, it never comes.
