[Intro]

I hope you're alive and in good health somewhere, this is song is for, well, you know who you are.

All I really wanna do is go back in time.
And all I really wanna do is make the time rewind.
and all I want to feel is the shit you made me feel
on a lavender moon because the shit you made me feel was,

I met you on a bullring square walking surface.
That's when the whole predicament at hand became a purpose.
Clock somersaulted as a stomach knotted.
A translucent shadow sitting in the Tundra watching.
Dragonflies flapping wings touched the rugged veins.
Your presence was the fragrance of a salty summer rain,
but you, flew away, and you, locked the cage and slipknotted my jaw bones with frozen rusted chains.

Gave a lavender moon and I could only hope that you would give a little bit more than just a stone back.
And I could throw that across a ripple in space into a worm hole and try to sneak a kiss to the face, and when I lost interest, you swiftly turned the friendship
into a temptation sanctum of soft kisses.
Sanctioning the lost wishes and my true fate.
Unable to comply afraid your move was too late.
Letters in calligraphy embedded your divinity and 'I like you' is not a clever simile.
and 'I love you' is not something that you take for granted.
you disappeared and left me empty handed;
feeling guilty, stranded, filthy and controlling in the high school maze trapped inside my self-loathing.
I can pluck the angel's harp for a slow song, but I'm curious, where the fuck you went for so long.

Look it wasn't puppy love, it was real, and every time they crash and burn it's what the landing strip reveals.
I'm sorry that I never called you back or came to visit
I just couldn't revitalize myself to waste the minutes.
I mean you gave me 9 months of settled thoughts, no phone calls feeling like a drone the devil bought.
Sorry but you went from my only source of energy to a black and white vivid memory.

And I really wanna do is go back in time.
And all I really wanna do is make the time rewind.
and all I want to feel is the shit you made me feel
on a lavender moon because the shit you made me
feel was,
And I really wanna do is go back in time.
And all I really wanna do is make the time rewind.
and all I want to feel is the shit you made me feel
on a lavender moon because the shit you made me feel was ... real.
