"Reborn Into The Night"

The bitter sorrow of being left behind
As my cries are stuck in my throat
While they still dream on under the moonlit sky
Through the caressing winds of my final night

In the dark when the mournful screams are muted
Waits an angel calling to the spirits of the dying
And the nightly shades creep away from her
Leaving her in the sunlight, even in the darkest nights

Take my hands and lead my soul through
Away from this creepy resting place
Let me stand alone in the ruins of my life
Watching the other side's sun slowly die

Pale in the dark but shiny in the light glow
My eyes can still see you from over the clouds
A bright star I have already become
A shining pearl when you look up high

Ghouls of an undead love watching with pale faces
Staring at what's left of both you and I
Wipe away the tears in your beautiful eyes
For I am reborn into your nights...
