I could never lie cause I was born with this perverted idea
I could never die cause I was born Never could I say what's really going on inside of my head
Never can I say what's going on

I could never
I could never
Never ever
I could never
I could never
Never ever
Never can I say what's going on
I could never
I could never
Never ever
I could never
I could never
Never ever

I could take a lot but this is too much for me to handle, I think
It is not a ... to say no to spending time with people you know
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
Who don't know when enough is enough
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
And try to make you feel that you're boring
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
I could take a lot but this is too much for me to handle
in one day

All the feelings that I have are focused on my bad behavior
The humans that I focus on are bad
...are begging me for you to be my personal savior
Saving is a favor I need back

I could never
I could never

Never ever
I could never
I could never
Never ever
Never can I say what's going on
I could never
I could never
Never ever
I could never
I could never
Never ever

I could take a lot but this is too much for me to handle
I think that head and heart are one in the same thing
But I tend to lean towards just one
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
Long ago we knew that there always are two sides to all that's important
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
Leaving me with nothing but to let you make all important decisions
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
So that there is someone to blame when I am feeling awkward about it
(Little too much, it's a little too much)
I could take a lot but this is too much for me to handle
in one day
