You should have seen both faces from the start
Beholden to the hate within your heart
You cast the world aside
In hiding from your burden one more time

But could it be your efforts were in vain?
Could it be your life is full of shame?
You threw it all away
You let it fall to pieces here today

You waste your time
You hide too much don't ever let me find what you're thinking
What's in your head?
You ask too much don't ever let me beg
Who are you?

We won't need to take it when you're gone
Won't embrace the liars very long
While you're afraid to go
You're afraid to face it when you've lost

All the ties were severed when you came
What if I can mend them once again?
You're afraid to learn
Fossilize its bridges when they burn

Yeah-eah

You waste your time
You hide too much don't ever let me find what you're
thinking
What's in your head?
You ask too much don't ever let me beg
Who are you?

You waste your time
You hide too much don't ever let me find what you're
thinking
What's in your head?
You ask too much don't ever let me beg
Who are you?

Yeah-eah
Ah-yeah

Who are you?
