So far you can't compare,
I barely understand Things seems so right like we're alive
But that was just a lie

I used to pray in thanks for this safe place
Now I'm dying to escape When my mind says move it's like my body's bound to you

Clean up yourself because your mess is so,
so contagious
Hide your face in the crowd and prove I was wrong when I thought you were something different

Here I am for the thousandth time, Wandering in an endless circle,
Captured by your dirty lies,
With no way to wash me clean

I've had it with all these games you try and play,
Your heads a mess
Yet you're so damn pretentious

The game is yours baby take it away
So let it rain
Let it pour down on me

Clean up yourself because your mess is so,
so contagious
Hide your face in the crowd and prove I was wrong

So let it rain down and wash away all of you and me

Clean up yourself because your mess is so,
so contagious

(so contagious, so contagious, so contagious, so contagious, so contagious, so contagious, so contagious, so contagious)

I used to pray in thanks for this safe place
now I'm dying to escape
When my mind says move it's like my body's bound to
you

Clean up yourself because your mess is so,
so contagious
Hide your face in the crowd and prove I was wrong

Clean up yourself because your mess is so,
so contagious

So contagious, so contagious, so contagious (clean up yourself because you're, so let it rain down)
So contagious
So contagious
