"Unconditionally"

I can't sleep, can't even breath and that won't change soon.
If you're lonely, ask her; she owns me, she lives in my room.

Make up your mind. Leave the boy behind.
Melt me and drag me down; down into your mind.

And my clothes are burning; I'm out on the sea,
Oh what it means that you're watching them for me.
And my eyes are blurring; they need you loving me,
And oh what it means that it's unconditionally.

Can't see the city lights 'cos I'm cold and high:
Growing surly, they're getting blurry and we know why.

Make up your mind. Leave the boy behind.
Melt me and drag me down; down into your mind.

And my clothes are burning; I'm out on the sea,
Oh what it means that you're watching them for me.
And my eyes are blurring; they need you loving me,
And oh what it means that it's unconditionally.

And if these lyrics are lost in my lack of memory,
Forget them too, forget them too, forget them for me
please.
