"Set Apart"

I bring myself to see, that I'm young and I'm so free..

To do what that I choose, ignore what expected of me,

And live like to the food, that's not how, it's meant to be..

Cos' you set me apart, right from the very start..

And want to show the way to your ever loving heart..

So that I began, my friend do your love inside..

My desires, differ, from what you want me to do..

I've done to him much wrong,

but still he waits for me to see..

What you want me to do,

Father and I, I realize...(that you set.
