I don't think about her now that's what I taught myself to say but memories I can't allow still echo back from yesterday and Monday morning brings the rain but colors still come out at dusk again that palette fades to grey and change is all that I can trust

I'm cause I changed my name but kept the ones near me nothing to say, just feel it all coming on I played the game and lost but tonight it's just you and me baby you could meet me on the rooftop watch it as the sky falls down let it fall down on us, on us now baby we could wait here 'til the world stops watching as the sky spins round look at all the stars we've found

did she do it for the love or the scratch did I do it for the comfort in her arms did she realize I'm not such a catch she's a prison and I'm the alarm we do it for the love or the money living like a man with nothing left we do it for the fame or the sunny skies you're acting like the joke isn't funny and running like a racehorse out of breath we do it for the love or the money tonight
